

CONCERN MERGES 2 MOTOR PLANTS

Local Agency Receives Word of a New Company Formed in Minneapolis.

F. W. Sauerman, president of the Sauerman Motor company, 324-326 Sixteenth street, has been advised that the Colby Motor Car company of Mason City, Iowa, of which the local concern is agent, has been taken over by Minneapolis and Mason City capitalists, with $6,000,000 to back the project of erecting a new automobile factory.

The new company is organized as the Standard Motor company of Minneapolis and embraces not only the Colby company but the Minneapolis Motor company as well.

A location will be selected in Minneapolis for the plant the cost of construction of which will be approximately $3,000,000. The big concern will manufacture every type of pleasure car, light delivery cars and motor cycles and will furnish employment to about 500 men.

The Mason City plant, the home of the Colby cars, will be operated for some time, at least until the new plant is built and probably longer. The plant of the Minneapolis Motor company, which has been engaged in the manufacture of motorcycles probably will be merged with the new plant. It is expected that the name of the products of each of the two companies will be retained.

The Minneapolis men interested in the projects are some of the most influential in that section of the country. They include F. E. Kenaston, president of the Minneapolis Threshing Machine Co., M. J. Scanlon, S. H. Bowman, P. M. Starnes, all of Minneapolis, H. McNider and William Colby of H. McNider and William Colby of Mason City, Iowa.

P. M. Starnes, head of the Minneapolis Motor Car company, was formerly prominent in the insurance business in Des Moines, Iowa.

AMERICAN TAKEN AS A KIDNAPER

Dublin Police Arrest Mrs. Lucille Rand in Act of Aiding Strikers' Children.

Dublin, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Lucille Rand, a resident of London and a daughter of Henry T. Gage of California, formerly governor of that state and ex-American minister to Portugal, was arraigned in the Kingstown police court here yesterday charged with kidnapping two boys under the age of 14.

The case was adjourned until Oct. 29 and Mrs. Rand was released on bail.

The charges against Mrs. Rand arose out of the scheme to provide homes in England for children of the Dublin transport workers, who have been on strike since the beginning of September.

Mrs. Montefiore, prominent in philanthropic circles in London, was arrested on a similar charge as that lodged against Mrs. Rand. Earlier in the day she asked the magistrate to permit her to be made defendant instead of Mrs. Rand, who she said was acting in her behalf.

This request was refused, but when she attempted to take some children on board a boat she was stopped by Irish priests and her arrest followed.

She declared the children are being removed by purely humanitarian motives and not in an effort to deprive them of their faith as alleged by the priests.

The scheme to remove the children to England is supported by James Larkin, head of the Transport Workers' union and leader of the strike, but is bitterly opposed by Archbishop Walsh and the Catholic clergy as calculated to deprive the children of their faith.

Priests surprised the "deporters" as they were embarking the children on boats bound for England, and in many cases the clergy brought the children ashore again.

Besides being philanthropic, Mrs. Montefiore has an international reputation as a worker in the cause of woman suffrage.

In Australia, where she lived for some time, she organized the women for the demands of equal suffrage. In England she has worked along the same lines. She has been prominently identified with the socialist organizations of England and has been on equal terms with such leaders in the movement as Meyer Hyndman and Lady Warwick, the woman of the English aristocracy who espoused the cause of socialism.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 24.—Mrs. Rand, charged in Dublin with kidnapping, was married here three years ago to Elbridge Rand, son of Mrs. Charles Wellington Rand, who is known as one of the wealthiest women of southern California.

Mrs. Harry T. Gage, mother of Mrs. Rand, expressed surprise and some alarm today when told of her daughter's appearance in the Dublin police court.

"I had a letter from my daughter only a few days ago," Mrs. Gage said. "She was then in London. I have never known her to display any interest in matters such as the Dublin dock strike. That is why I cannot believe it is she who is under arrest. If it is I am confident the trouble is only slight."

Former Gov. Gage could not understand why his daughter should be involved in a dispute between the clergy and strikers.

"Mrs. Rand is herself a Catholic," he said.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

From The Argus Files of 1888

Oct. 22.—The gold headed cane, valued at $25 for the most popular candidate for state's attorney, voted upon at the Catholic fair at Moline on the closing night, Saturday, was won by City Attorney McKinley of this city, democratic candidate, by a vote of 489 to 42.

Miss Nettie Coyne of Nineteenth street gave a musicale at her home to a few of her intimate friends last Saturday afternoon which was followed by refreshments.

Oct. 24.—The Milan road has turned out and is ready to start.

The interior of Mitchell & Lynde's bank has undergone some attractive improvements and is now one of the coziest and most inviting banking houses in this section of the state. The walls have been entirely covered with rich paper, the ceiling painted ivory white, while a wall-coating of polished Georgia pine surrounded with redwood moulding runs the entire length of the room outside the counters. The chandeliers have been neatly bronzed and the appointments throughout are the finest that can be provided.

Oct. 25.—Harry Sage, the Rock Island boy, caught for the all-American team against the Chicago at Des Moines yesterday.

THE VALLEY CLARION

NOT AT ALL NEIGHBORLY.
(Ackley, Iowa, World.)

Quite a little complaint of some one stealing in our neighborhood. Hays Fouts lost a spool of wire also a set of eveners for wagon taken off a hay rake; a certain farmer asked a neighbor why he did not get said spool of wire as he could use it, said farmer told him it was not his and he would not take. Kobus Vanhuden, who lives north of town, had a child's express wagon stolen a short time ago, taken from the roadside, where the children left it. Keep your shotguns loaded and give one of these fellows a charge of shot in the big end of his pants and perhaps the others will get wise.

SOME GENIUS.
(Akron, Ohio, Beacon-Journal.)

There is no use in dwelling upon early meteoric career of this marvelous genius, who, like a comet, has traced the flamboyant tail of his magnificent achievements across the political skies of Ohio. Their glory shall endure until the county fair itself shall have waned and faded and become the half remembered fragment of the imagination of an almost unknown generation. Their unending lustre is written across the front of every cross roads store in Ohio, and not until plain shall cease to be whitened and amber rills of tobacco juice shall no longer divide the stove from the mainland can their illustrious glory fade.

A GRATEFUL CONVALESCENT.
(Manhattan, Kan., Nationalist.)
I have sufficiently recovered from my injuries sustained in the railroad wreck of Sept. 20, to enable me to continue my journey homeward, but I feel that I cannot leave without thanking those who have been so kind to me. Words fail to express my gratitude to Mr. Davis, the manager of Parkview hospital, whom I have found to be a gentleman of the highest type; and also to his able assistant, Miss Ruth Smith, superintendent of nurses. She is so kind and gentle, so capable, as I would judge, of filling the responsible position she holds. The other nurses have been untiring and faithful in caring for me. The nurse especially caring for me was Miss Anna Reed. I cannot say too much in her praise, or speak too highly of the management of the hospital. I have not heard one unkind or irritating word. Manager, superintendent, and nurse seem to labor together with perfect harmony and union. I wish to thank Dr. Clarkson and Dr. Wilhoit for their prompt and considerate attention and especially Dr. Moffit for his kind consideration attention in my case, and the great benefit derived from his skill. I wish to thank the Ladies' Aid societies, the W. C. T. U., the Epworth League, the superintendent of the C. R. I. & P. railroad, and all who sent such beautiful flowers and also the officials of the Rock Island and Pacific railroad for their considerate, honorable treatment.

SPEAKING OF ADVERTISING.
(Columbia City, Ind., Post.)

Mrs. Frank Sharp of the south side found a shirt last Saturday evening and she notified this paper of the find. A want ad was inserted in the Post, which was read by George Harrison of the Clugston Bros. Dry Goods store, and one of their customers had phoned in that she had lost a shirt which she had purchased for her husband Saturday. Communication was quickly established with Mrs. Jesse Ritter, south of town, and she was very much pleased to get the lost shirt.

POLO HAS A PARADE.
(Polo, Ill., Press.)

From the hotel the purchasers returned to the warehouse, each hitching his team to his spreader, the machines with drivers were given a suitable place on the business street and Photographer Chase took a picture of the group. All then joined in a parade up and down the business part of the street. The sight was a beautiful one.

BETTER WITHOUT THEM!
(Des Moines Capitol.)

Lack of wardrobe, due to the non-arrival of her trunks, did not detract in the least from the pleasure of seeing and hearing Miss Irene Franklin, the American comedienne.

POET AFTER MONEY.
(Clinton, Ill., Public.)

Poetry—if you have a society (charitable, literary, religious, or fraternal) that needs more money in its treasury, you can get some of the needed money by making an entertainment. I will read poetry for you for one-third of the floor money.—M. Fausch.

CORN CRIB PILGRIMAGE.
(Lee County Times.)

Adam Stiver, one of Walnut's most respected old citizens, aged 52, got lost in a corn crib near the town last week. When the alarm was given about 30 responded with lanterns and a search instituted. Ted Wilson and Charley Miller with Ted's dog "Mac," went into the corn field and in a short time the dog located the aged gentleman asleep and aroused him by licking his face. He was picked up and taken to his home none the worse for his experience.

MENDED, SO TO SPEAK.
(Sterling Gazette.)

Rochelle, Ill., Oct. 23.—Special to the Gazette.—Mr. and Mrs. George E. Stocking returned home last night from an automobile tour of three weeks in southern Wisconsin. Mr. Stocking is greatly improved in health and expects to get back into the harness at once and devote his attention to his extensive real estate and canning interests.

FAIR BETTER THAN ALL.
(Journal Republican—Medapolis, Ill.)

Some like spring with its glowing sunlight. With flowers all blooming bright. With music that fills the air. That comes from the great bird choir. But with all the pleasure it doth bring, I'll take fall instead of spring.

Give me fall with its falling brown leaves.
With its frosty breeze—
With the flowers that's been melted by the summer heat
And the few left with fragrance so sweet.

The reason I hold fall so dear is because of the patches of green grass here and there.

When the morning sun shines on the dew drops so great

It makes them sparkle like molten emeralds on a golden plate.

With the red apples that's vanishing away

When men are clearing away for the next spring plow.

When a man can stand on a hill top high

And see the landscapes nigh
And inhale the mellow sunlight
That seems to quench the soul's longing appetite.

STOMACH SUFFERERS

May's Wonderful Stomach Remedy
Is Recommended and Praised By Thousands Who Have Been Restored

"I was a sick man for about three months. I was suffering from indigestion, loss of appetite, and general weakness. I had tried many remedies, but nothing seemed to help. I then saw an advertisement for May's Stomach Remedy, and I decided to try it. I bought a bottle and took it according to the directions. In a few days, I began to feel better. My appetite returned, and I was able to eat and sleep again. I continued to take the remedy for a few more days, and I was completely restored to health. I am now as strong and well as ever, and I can truly say that May's Stomach Remedy is a wonderful medicine for all who suffer from indigestion and other stomach troubles. I have recommended it to many of my friends, and they have all found it to be a most effective remedy. I am now a healthy and happy man, and I am grateful to May's Stomach Remedy for what it has done for me."—J. D. Walker, chemist, Fourth Avenue and Twentieth Street—(Adv.)
